

When I was told I had to write
A poem spontaneously in just one night
I thought what better time
To tell the world the greatest love of mine

Video games are my love
They make my head soar like a dove
Halo 3, gears of war and perfect dark are mine
They may be expensive, but they are worth every dime

The halo ring is only a dream
A perfect ring made of a data stream
If I had one like that, I would offer it to my wife
Too bad that one doesn't exist in this life

Gears of wars intense fighting
A like sparks coming from a wire
The sparks land on the wood AND My body and start lighting my soul on fire

Love is forever,
Until death do you part.
But this love is different
Because it truly comes from my heart
